P1 Technology is a Product and Engineering Design Consultancy, originally based in Stocksbridge, who have the ability to take their innovative design solutions from concept to manufacture.

In 2009, P1 Technology merged with a local engineering/fabricating company to bring over 80 years of manufacturing experience in-house to produce well considered, profitable products suited to market and to ensure the best possible service for their clients.

As a consequence of this business expansion, P1 Technology approached Creativesheffield for support identifying larger, strategically located office premises.

After consideration of the property specification provided by P1 Technology, Creativesheffield provided a detailed range of office options from throughout the Sheffield region and introduced to the company an experienced grants support consultant to explore funding availability to support the capital expenditure incurred in the expansion project.

In September 2009, P1 Technology located to their new premises at Park Square, Thorncliffe Park, Chapeltown, safeguarding seven high quality jobs and triggering the potential for new posts to be created.

Managing Director James Oldham commented:

“With the help of Creativesheffield we were able to quickly develop a plan for relocation based on our future aspirations and find the best location for P1 Technology”.
